19 Planes, Eight Craft Are On Search

Honolulu, July 12 (AP) — Navy reported today that a U. S. Coast Guard plane searching for a missing Transocean airliner with 58 aboard had sighted two oil slicks about 320 miles east of Wake Island.

This was the last reported position of the big airliner.

The Navy said the oil slicks were sighted and were being investigated.

The slicks were in the area where green flares were seen last night.

The report followed closely that weak distress signals began sputtering out of the sea lane between Wake and Honolulu more than 16 hours after the huge plane radioed its last position report 325 miles east of Wake Island.

The calls were so faint that ships were unable to get an accurate bearing.

But the Navy estimated the sender was 300 to 800 miles west of Honolulu and far east of the sector where it had concentrated a massive search through most of today's daylight hours.

The Navy shifted its search armada including at least 8 ships and 19 planes eastward in a desperate race against the oncoming darkness.

The distress calls began at 3 p.m. (8 p.m. EST). Two hours later they were coming in. Possibly the calls came from a Gibson Girl type emergency transmitter aboard one of the five lifeboats which the big air transport carried.

The great search started early today across a watery strip 30 miles wide and 800 miles long in the Wake-Honolulu lane where the Transocean unscheduled carrier disappeared late Saturday night. The Navy said the plane was a Transocean Air Lines four-engine DC-6 carrying 50 passengers and a crew of eight on a non-scheduled flight from Guam to Oakland, Calif.

The Hawaiian Sea Frontier Navy office said the plane was 325 miles east of Wake when it made its last report at 10:28 p.m. Saturday, Hawaii time 3:28 a.m. Sunday, EST.

It was due at Honolulu around 6 a.m. Hawaii time today, 11 a.m. EST. Four hours after the plane's last report, a Flying Tiger Line plane, enroute from Honolulu to Wake, sighted a green flare about 30 miles from the Transocean craft's last known position, the Navy said.

Gruenther Is Called To Save Foreign Aid

By Robert S. Allen
Washington, July 12 — General Alfred Gruenther will fly to the U. S. this week to help save the foreign aid budget from being slashed to ribbons in Congress.

The NATO commander is making the special trip at the direction of President Eisenhower.

The foreign aid measure is now pending in the House Appropriations Committee where strenuous efforts are being made in the secret proceedings, to cut $1,000,000,000 from the already drastically reduced program. Former President Truman proposed $7,600,000,000 for this purpose. President Eisenhower cut that figure to $5,400,000,000. Subsequently, the House pruned this still further to $4,900,000,000, but the Senate raised the amount to $5,100,000,000.

That compromise figure is acceptable to the Administration. But a powerful group in the secrecy of the House Appropriations Committee is making a strenuous effort to limit foreign aid to $4,000,000,000.

That would mean drastic curtailment of military aid to certain critical areas, notably Red-periled Indo-China.

To avert that the President has summoned his former Chief of Staff to plead with Congress not to "wield an ax." Gruenther is highly respected on Capitol Hill. He made a most favorable impression there last spring when he testified before House and Senate committees. At that time, he had not yet elevated to NATO commander.

The President summoned Gruenther at the suggestion of congressional leaders, among them had pressed Administration supporters in the Appropriations Committee.

Preserve Streets' Private Status

New York (AP) — Rockefeller Plaza, a three-block thoroughfare running through the heart of Rockefeller Center, was closed to pedestrians and vehicles for 12 hours yesterday to preserve its status as a private street.

The street has had the one-day closing annually for 19 years. The action is required under an agreement between the city and Columbia University which owns most of the land occupied by Rockefeller Center.

Praise Ike For Draft Of Fathers

Washington (AP) — The National Manpower Council yesterday praised President Eisenhower's decision to draft fathers into military service, saying this wipes out a major shortcoming of the military manpower program.

The President Saturday signed an amendment to the selective service regulations which will permit the drafting of fathers who have not been deferred by next Aug. 25. It provides for exemptions in extreme hardship cases.

The council, an advisory group, said Eisenhower's action "has greatly strengthened public support of the constructive theories behind the student deferment program."

"It is regrettable," however, said Council Chairman James D. Zellerbach of San Francisco in a statement, that over a year has been lost since the council first recommended such a change in April, 1952.

"Since then," he said, "the council's conviction has remained unaltered that it is sound national policy to defer qualified students until their education has been completed; but . . . it is both undemocratic and unsound to permit the existence of loopholes in regulations which do violence to the concept of universal military training as expressed by Congress."

Failure To Follow MacArthur, Van Fleet Policies In Korea Takes Reds 'Off Hook'

—by John Chamberlain

(Former literary editor of the New York Times and editorial writer for Life, Mr. Chamberlain has authored two books, "Farewell to Reform" and "The American Stake.")

Whatever the short-term benefits to the United States of a cessation of hostilities in Korea—the saving of lives, the opportunity to concentrate on other phases of military preparedness—it certainly lets the Communists off the hook.

Consider the plight of the Communist world at the moment. In China there is a severe famine. No doubt the weather has had something to do with it, but the destruction of the old village economy, which used to take care of local irrigation works, has been even more responsible for the crop failures.

High taxation and the constant levy on the Chinese countryside for abled-bodied men to build railroads and to fight in Korea have taken human energy away from the fields and rice paddies. The Chinese have got to pay some attention to the "good earth," and they can well use a temporary peace in Korea.

So, too, can their Russian backers—or masters. For if anything is plain from the recent news, the Soviet Empire is having its own troubles. In East Germany there has been revolt and a slackening in the effort to drive the "little man" of the old German bourgeoisie into communal projects. East Germany is having its own food crisis.

These, however, are only the immediate reasons why the Communist world can use a respite in Korea. The long-term advantages that must accrue to the Soviet world because of our failure to follow the MacArthur-Van Fleet program for victory in the Far East are even more important. We are not merely in danger of letting the Communists off the hook for this year and next; the policy of temporizing is calculated to let them off the hook forever.

The truth is that Korea—and adjacent Manchuria—is one place in the world where the Communists could be defeated without a total effort. When General Van Fleet said the Eighth Army could have had this victory in Korea on any one of several occasions he had his logistical eye cocked on the supply conduits to the Korean battlefield.

What he saw was this: a big U. S. supply base in Japan, with (Continued on Page two)

Beria Aide Is Chief Target Of Malenkov

Berlin (AP) — Red Gestapo Chief Wilhelm Zaisser, who used to boast that he had a direct telephone line to Lavrenty Beria in Moscow, was named in underground reports last night as the No. 1 German target of the Malenkov purge.

Premier Otto Grotewohl's Soviet zone government was still paralyzed with fright by the grave struggle for power inside the Kremlin. Beria's overthrow, coming on the heels of the June 17 revolt in East Germany, plunged the oldest German party-liners into despair.

Eastern sources said Moscow has failed to send a clear directive to Soviet and German officials here since Beria was "officially" denounced by Premier Georgi Malenkov last Friday.

Of all Germans, State Security Minister Zaisser was closest to Beria. They first met in a Red Army counter-intelligence school in Moscow in 1924. Beria freed Zaisser from a Russian concentration camp in 1938 after he had been made a scapegoat for the defeat of the Red International Brigades he commanded in the Spanish Civil War as "Gen. Gomez."

Neues Deutschland, the East German Communist Central Committee's mouthpiece, climbed on the Malenkov bandwagon yesterday and branded Beria "a servant and agent of imperialists."

Jamboree Scouts Arrive

Puente, Calif. (AP) — The first two trainloads of jamboree-bound Boy Scouts arrived yesterday and 3,500 residents gave the 720 leaders from Oregon and Washington a tumultuous welcome.

The crowd, many wearing Spanish costumes, scores of pretty girls stationed at Pullman car door, handed oranges to each boy as he jumped from the train.

"These Florida oranges?" one boy quipped.

The 720 are the vanguard of 50,000 scouts expected at nearby Newport Beach for the National Scout Jamboree beginning next Friday.

Congress Will Take Foreign Policy Power

Washington (AP) — Congress is about to assume perhaps significant new authority by specifically directing the President how to carry out part of his European aid program.

President Eisenhower lost a dramatic backstage fight last week to block the move.

Both House and Senate are expected to approve a compromise $3,100,000,000 foreign aid program without major changes this week. The House acts today and the Senate later.

The bill includes an Eisenhower-opposed amendment earmarking half of this year's European military aid, probably one billion dollars, to the unformed European Defense Community or a substitute organization.

Rep. Richards (D-SC), the author, says the amendment means that Congress for the first time is writing "foreign policy, for better or for worse."

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) says the provision is primarily a stronger expression of a demand for European unification which has been advocated in several past foreign aid measures.

The amendment does not actually originate any policy, since the EDC plan for a six-nation international army was formulated more than two years ago.

But Capitol Hill veterans say Congress never before has gone so far in telling the President what to do in foreign affairs—a field traditionally reserved to the executive department.

Sales Tax Collection To Be Costly

Harrisburg (AP) — Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader in the Senate, last night estimated that it would cost the state at least 10 million dollars a biennium to collect the 1 per cent sales tax.

Passed by the legislature last week the levy is expected to be presented to Gov. John S. Fine tomorrow. It would be effective Sept. 1 and bring in an estimated 125 million dollars a biennium.

"Ten million dollars is a minimum cost, too," Dent charged. "That bill is the most unworkable bill in Pennsylvania history and probably will be the most disastrous."

Reached at his home in Jeanette, he said the tax will mean the state has to "put a watchman on everybody."

Eisenhower Is Urged To Demand Korea Conference Be Limited To War Allies

By Jack Bell

Washington, (AP) — President Eisenhower is being urged by leading legislators to demand that only Allied nations which have joined in the actual fighting be given a voice in any Korean peace conference.

In advance of possible Communist acceptance of truce terms, Sen. Knowland of California, the acting GOP leader, is known to be pressing Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles for exclusion of non-fighting United Nations members from the political conferences that would follow an armistice.

Any such decision would limit the political discussion of Korea's fate to South Korea, the U. S. and 15 other nations on the Allied side.

It would exclude such countries as India, which has done none of the actual fighting, as well as Russia, a U. N. member which has been supplying arms to the North Korean Communists.

Knowland would not comment directly on this aspect of his frequent White House conversations on Korea but Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) said in an interview he favors limiting the peace talks to Allied belligerents.

"If there is a truce, I think the people who fought the war should negotiate the peace terms," Ferguson said. "Perhaps these terms should be submitted to the United Nations General Assembly, much as a treaty is submitted to the Senate, but 60 nations can't sit down at a peace table."

No one on the Allied side seems to know definitely yet which nations, besides the North Koreans, would sit down on the opposite side of the table. In truce negotiations, only the North Koreans and the People's Volunteer Army—Chinese Communists—have been represented.

If this fiction were preserved, Red China would not be an official participant in the subsequent peace talks.

Stevenson Approves Ike's Four-Power Confab Policy

Berlin, (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson gave his support yesterday to the Eisenhower go-slow policy on a four-power conference with the Russians.

"Delay might clarify the situation," Stevenson told a West Berlin news conference.

"I've always believed it is desirable to keep the doors open to negotiations and consultation. These are doors to peace. When they are shut, the alternative is more serious."

"But I wouldn't attempt to say this is the moment" for a conference. There might be a reaction if it didn't turn out successfully—that would be unfortunate.

"The next move is Russia's anyhow. We've had no reply to the Western Powers' note to Moscow last September on free elections as the basis for Germany's reunification."

"I hope that Germany will be reunited and that its orientation will be toward the West, where its friends are."

The defeated 1952 Democratic standard bearer, visiting Berlin near the end of a world tour, referred briefly to the grim mystery surrounding the downfall of Soviet police boss Lavrenty Beria.

Truce Talks Complicated By Communists

Panmunjom, Monday (AP) — North Korean Gen. Nam Il, senior Communist truce delegate, today charged the Allies with bombing and strafing a war prisoner assembly point at Sunan, July 10.

Nam Il alleged that 5 Allied war prisoners were killed and 15 wounded in the attack.

The senior Red negotiator made the charge in a written protest delivered as the armistice team convened for another secret session.

The delegates met for 12 minutes and then declared a 30-minute recess.

Nam Il charged Allied military aircraft bombed and strafed the prisoner of war collecting point from 11:35 a.m. to 11:55 a.m. July 10.

Sunan is north of the Korean Communist capital of Pyongyang.

"Conspicuous prisoner of war camp markings" were displayed in the area, Nam Il stated.

"Many buildings of the prisoner of war collecting point were damaged and four of our working personnel in the prisoners of war collecting point who came to the rescue of the prisoners of war were killed or wounded," Nam said.

He added:

"I hereby lodge with you a serious protest regarding this incident. Your side must bear full responsibility for this incident, which seriously violated the agreement."

The letter was addressed to J. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior armistice delegate for the United Nations Command.

Meanwhile, the talks were being held under another shadow despite a U. S.-South Korean statement of mutual understanding between the two countries on an armistice agreement.

The Communist radio at Pyongyang, capital of North Korea, said the statement issued Sunday "does not guarantee" that South Korean President Syngman Rhee "will not wreck an armistice agreement."

This was the first Red public reaction to the statement released Sunday by Rhee and U. S. Special Envoy Walter S. Robertson.

Rhee and Robertson themselves appeared to be at variance in their interpretations of the joint statement, which implied but made no specific mention of Republic of Korea participation in an armistice.

Just before the statement was made public Robertson told newsmen "we could not make the statement if we had not had assurances that President Syngman Rhee would collaborate in the armistice."

However, after Robertson's comment, Rhee was quoted by Scripps-Howard Correspondent Jim Lucas as saying "We will not accept the armistice, but we have agreed not to obstruct it for a period of three months."

Allied Troops Retake Post

Seoul, Monday (AP) — Allied troops early today recaptured outpost positions on the East-Central Front stronghold of Finger Ridge. Chinese troops in a 1,000-man attack yesterday drove South Korean 6th Division fighters off the outpost southeast of Kumsong.

The Allied troops counterattacked at 2:05 a.m. and forced 200 Chinese defenders to retreat after 2½ hours of intense fighting, the 8th Army said.

Other Allied troops repulsed two Communist company-sized attacks early today at Outpost Victor and a nearby outpost on the West-Central Front.

In the air war, U. S. Sabre jets shot down seven Communist MIGs Sunday, the 5th Air Force said. The fiery jet battles broke out during the third straight day of Allied fighter-bomber attacks against a key network of rail and road bridges near Manchuria.

the sealanes open from Yokahama Bay to Seattle, San Francisco, San Diego and New York. Stretching out in the other direction he saw poor roads and a shaky railway system. The Trans-Siberian Railroad, sole Russian artery across half a world, isn't up to carrying the burden of a major war; the tank cars could not roll across it fast enough to fuel planes and motor vehicles in any large and long-continuing conflict.

The Russians were beaten in Manchuria at the end of the Trans-Siberian in the early years of this century by a combination of Japanese ground and sea power; they — or their satellites — could be beaten again in the same place and for the same reason.

A war in Europe against the Russians is something else again. The Russians cannot be beaten in Europe, for all they have to do there is to retreat into their own space, as they did in the time of Napoleon. So MacArthur and Van Fleet were both right: the war on Communism in Korea was the "right war in the right place at the right time."

In refusing to fight the right war in the right place at the right time, the United States is storing up decades of trouble for itself. In the event of peace with Mao Tse-tung it cannot with any logic or "face" give Chiang Kai-shek the weapons for a victorious invasion of the Chinese mainland from Formosa. Nor can it recognize Mao as the de facto ruler of China and still have much reason to fight his admission to the U.N.

One can foresee the future after a Korean peace: the Indians, the British and practically everybody else will press for full admission of Red China to the Glass House of the Nations on the shores of Manhattan's East River. Any effort on our part to forestall such admission will be met with impatience. We will be accused of standing in the way of the "inevitable." We will be chivvied and bullied and argued with until we finally say, "Oh, well, let Red China have it. After all the U.N. is only a place where we all meet to talk."

The trouble with such concessions is that they rob us of our will to resist the dynamism of the enemy. MacArthur grew up in the days of the old-fashioned diplomacy, when it was recognized as a fact of human nature that one either presses or relaxes, advances or retreats.

In international affairs as in other things, one does not maintain a competitive position by giving up advantages. The sure way to lose tomorrow is to let your enemy off the hook today.

What MacArthur wanted to do was to trap the enemy in Korea from behind and destroy him. A single Inchon landing, well-timed, what he needed was the men and supplies to effect a double envelopment, an Inchon on each side of the Korean peninsula.

But the United Nations never saw fit to give him the tools and the divisions for the job. Even so, he might have done vastly better against the enemy if the politicians had permitted him to bomb beyond the Yalu and to make his own truce proposals at his own time.

Now it is probably too late to go back to the MacArthur proposals: the will of a nation to fight has been sapped. But the future will see MacArthur's vindication—a tragic one for us all.

It's the newest in a long list of Ford advancements that make this Ford the outstanding car for '53!

No other car near Ford's price has ever offered you so much!

Ford was the first in its field to bring you V-8 power. Today, Ford alone of all the low-priced cars offers you the smooth, unsurpassed performance of a V-8 engine. And Ford's Six—the most modern in the industry—with Overdrive, won the Grand Sweepstakes in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run.

Ford first brought to the low-price field a completely automatic transmission that combines the smoothness of a torque converter and the gas-saving "go" of automatic gears. Fordomatic remains the most versatile automatic you can buy.

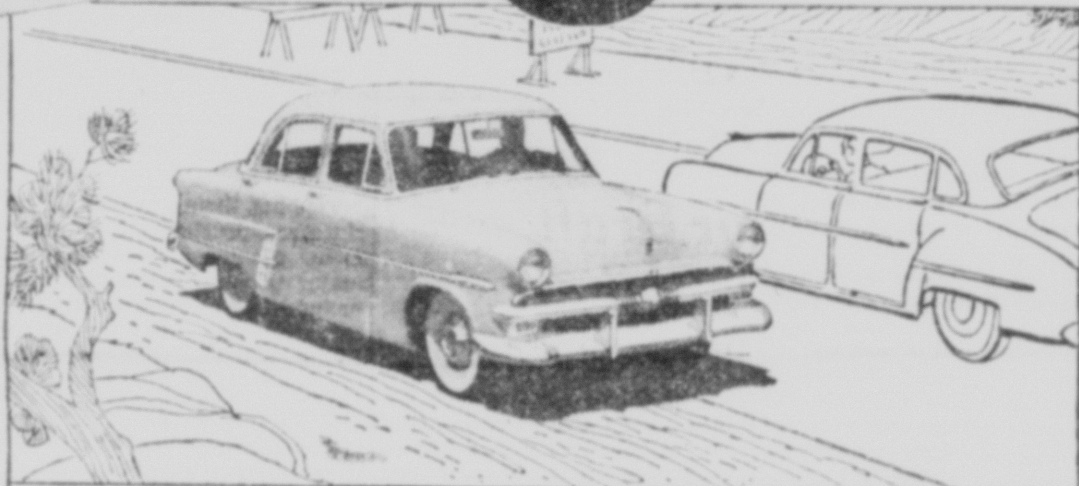

Ford's new "ride" brings you curve-bugging and bump-leveling qualities never before known in low-priced cars. Front end road shock alone has been reduced up to 80%.

Easier-acting suspended pedals, Center-Fill Fueling and Full-Circle Visibility are just a few of the many other important advancements first introduced by Ford.

And now Ford brings you the newest and finest in power steering... Master-Guide, a system exclusive in Ford's field! It's no wonder, then, that Ford is the "Worth More" car... worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it.

Master-Guide applies hydraulic steering power automatically... and in varying degrees as required... right at the steering linkage, close to the wheels. At the same time the system serves as a hydraulic shock absorber to keep road jars and jolts from your hands. As a result all you do is... guide the car... Master-Guide supplies the muscles.

HELPS YOU OUT OF "TIGHT SPOTS!" The tougher the going the more Master-Guide works for you. For example, if you go off the pavement onto a soft shoulder or a rough, rutted road, Master-Guide provides the muscles to keep you on a steady course. At the same time, Master-Guide absorbs the shock that might otherwise be transmitted to the steering wheel. You'll find all handling is easier with Master-Guide and that parking requires only one-fourth the normal effort. Should Master-Guide ever lose its power, the standard steering mechanism will operate just as usual. Thus, Master-Guide provides new ease and stability, with a natural feel and full security, wherever you may drive. Optional on all V-8 models at extra cost.

Swimming Pool Drainage Killing Fish In Pocono Mountains

Streams Too Low To Dilute Poisons

Whether you know it or not, when you drain your swimming pool you may be killing Pocono mountains fish and livestock.

This was the warning issued yesterday by county fish warden Floyd Bachman.

According to Bachman, many resorts and other places maintaining swimming pools are using highly poisonous copper sulphate for water purification.

The danger point arrives when the resort owner or individual drains his swimming pool to restock with fresh water. Much of the time, the pool's used water is dumped (or eventually drains) into nearby streams.

Ordinarily the water in the stream is capable of diluting the copper sulphate or "bluestone" so that no harm can come from it.

This year, however, all streams in the Poconos are low on water supply. There isn't enough water, as a matter of fact, to wash the poison downstream in some cases.

Copper sulphate is deadly poisonous when taken internally by fish or animals, Bachman said.

The fish warden said last night he had received three calls concerning stream pollution recently. Dumping of the poison in streams is, of course, a violation of the law and could lead to the offender's arrest.

Bachman requests that all persons anticipating cleaning their pools contact State health officers in this area. Either Charles R. Keegan or Walter May should be contacted for instructions, Bachman said.

Four Skull Fractures In Crash

Mount Bethel — Four Philadelphiaans were in Monroe County General Hospital last night suffering from skull fractures and other injuries resulting from an accident near here Saturday morning.

The four, all members of one family, were in a car which smashed into a concrete wall and hurled a cement monument 10 yards.

In "poor condition" were Robert J. Singer, 31; and his wife, Mrs. Kitty B. Singer, 24, driver of the car, who in addition to the skull injury suffered a fractured jaw and multiple cuts. Listed as "fair" was Mrs. Fritzie Singer, 37, Singer's mother. Singer's father, Max, 72, was described as "in serious condition."

The accident occurred on Route 611 a short distance south of here, according to Bethlehem State police.

Trooper Walter Hoffines said the car was traveling north and that Mrs. Singer was trying to pass a truck going in the same direction at about 11 a.m.

Her car went off to the left of the two-lane road, veered off the shoulder, and went into the low concrete wall which holds a dirt embankment.

The car, after uprooting the cement monument and smashing pieces off it, turned over and came to rest upside down.

In addition to other injuries the elder Singer was reported to have suffered a possible stroke during the accident, as well as jaw injuries, possible broken leg and cuts.

Both were taken to Wilkes-Barre General Hospital.

He swerved to the left and the car overturned. Damages were estimated at $1,300. The car was towed to a Blakeslee garage.

Peterson Will Organize Local Company G Unit; Meet Tonight At Armory

A meeting leading to the reorganization of Company G, 28th Division will be held tonight at East Stroudsburg Armory.

The meeting will open at 7:30 p. m. Capt. W. C. G. Peterson will be in charge.

Child Hurt In Fall From Auto

Tamersville — Nancy Tray Bennett, 3, Phillipsburg, N.J., suffered a deep laceration in the forehead when she fell from the car driven by her parents on Route 611 Saturday night.

At the General Hospital where she was admitted for treatment, 11 stitches were required to close the wound.

The Bennett car turned out of the Henryville road into Route 611. About 300 feet south of the intersection Mrs. Bennett "felt air blowing on me." She saw the open door and her daughter starting to get up. The car was stopped and the child picked up.

The girl fell on the back side of the highway. A front-opening door, it was thought, was caught by the wind and torn open after the catch was released.

Not many playhouses among the tumbledowns have the discipline essential to the Broadway theatre. Many showoffs consider it an impromptu lark. The mood is easygoing, and the casual routine is generally hailed as reflecting the charm of Summer theatres. When the Group Theatre's troupe was riding high, they tested several plays in the playlofts. Confusion reigned during rehearsals. One actor who sowed the chaos was inspired to roar: "Outside of everything—that's the worst?"

Week-End Art Show Is Success

A weekend "outdoor show" by the Pocono Mountains Art Group was termed a "great success" yesterday by members of the group. Olivia Dreher, chairman of the show committee, said the exhibit had enjoyed a "success far exceeding our expectations for it."

A great increase in interest on the part of the public was also noted by committee members. The show began Friday morning and continued through 10 p.m. Saturday.

Paintings and other arts were displayed personally by the artists. The exhibit extended from the corner of Seventh and Main Sts. north on Seventh around Court-house Square on both sides of the street.

Miss Dreher said last night a total of "45 or 50 sales were made during the two-day exhibit." An estimated "10 to 12 artists" made the sales, the committee chairman said.

Additions to the show on Saturday were watercolors and oils by Elmore Hauser, who won first prize in last year's art show sponsored by Wyckoff's; displays by Betty Hamilton, Charles Wheeler, Catherine Carpenter, Thelma Hatten, William Willis, Reid Price, Violet Price, Betty Powell and Jo Heuber.

Miss Dreher, speaking on behalf of the Art Group and its membership, expressed gratitude to community residents and other visitors who helped to make the show successful.

Encouraged by this response to the display, Miss Dreher said plans at the moment call for another, possibly larger, show during the month of August.

"We would like especially to express our thanks to the merchants, businessmen and firms who were so cooperative during the show," Miss Dreher said. "Their kindness and interest, together with the encouragement we received from Mayor Hal Harris, the Stroudsburg borough council and the newspaper, are greatly appreciated."

Still Time To Sow Cover Crop Seeds

By A. Norman Dietrick
SCS Technician

There is still time to sow that cover crop of rye grass in your corn field or other cultivated crop. Domestic rye grass should be used, planting 15 to 20 pounds per acre immediately after the last cultivation.

In addition to the obvious protection from erosion between now and next spring when the corn stubble will be plowed down, rye grass provides a simple and inexpensive means of adding organic matter to the soil. Recent tests indicate that in many cases the lack of soil organic matter is the chief limiting factor in boosting crop yields.

It not only enables the soil to hold more moisture and keep it more friable, but it also provides plant food for the next crop when it is plowed down. For the maximum results cover-cropping should be used in conjunction with other conservation practices such as contour farming and strip cropping.

When I stopped at Walter Anglemeyer's farm near Brodheadsville the other day he was just finishing a 10 acre corn field, cultivating and sowing rye grass in one operation. Seeders are now available which are merely attached to the tractor, thus eliminating the old fashioned hand seeding operation.

Treible, Vantran Nuptial Held At Grace Luth. Church

Miss Shirley Anna Vantran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Vantran, of Loch Sheldrake, New York, became the bride of A/C Thomas Edward Treible, son of Edward Treible and the late Della Mae Treible, of 75 Henry St., East Stroudsburg, at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon before the candle-lit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg. White gladioli adorned the altar.

The double-ring wedding was solemnized by Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church minister, in the presence of a large congregation of friends of the young bridal couple.

Miss Jane Lipe sang two soprano solos before the ceremony, "Because" and "As You Love Me," accompanied by Miss Leda Bunnell at the organ console. Miss Lipe also sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the wedding prayers as the bride and bridegroom knelt before the altar on a white satin pillow.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a light blue nylon street length dress with white accessories and carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses.

Miss Regina Florence Vantran, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. She wore a blue and white street length dress, white accessories and carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses. Mrs. Alice Heister and Mrs. Edna Knudson, sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids and wore blue and white nylon street length dresses, white accessories, and carried Colonial bouquets of variegated summer flowers.

Miss Nancy May Frailey, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a yellow organdy dress with a tiny white veil and carried a miniature basket filled with white and blue baby's breath flowers. Arthur A. Heister Jr., son of the best man, was ring bearer. He carried the wedding bands on a satin heart-shaped pillow tied in white ribbons. Thomas I. Kintner, garbed in a crimson cassock and white surplice, was acolyte.

John C. Nival, of Woodbridge, N. Y., Stanley Vantran, brother of the bride, Charles Knudson Sr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, of Springfield, Mass., and Charles Oster, another brother-in-law of the bridegroom from Philadelphia, served as ushers.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Heister, 75 Henry St., East Stroudsburg, where the bridal party and immediate families enjoyed the nuptial festivities.

The bride attended Liberty High School, Liberty, N. Y., and presently is employed at the Hughes Printing Company in East Stroudsburg. The bridegroom was graduated from the East Stroudsburg High School with the class of 1948 and then attended the State Teachers College here prior to his re-enlistment in the Air Corps. He is stationed at the Francis E. Warren Air Force Base in Cheyenne, Wyoming. Mrs. Treible will join her husband in Wyoming in the imminent future.

SPCA Meeting

The executive board of the Monroe County SPCA will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, July 14, in the council chambers of the Stroudsburg Municipal Building at 7:30 p.m.

Dry your glassware right after you rinse it; use a dry absorbent towel of a type that leaves no lint. The longer glassware is allowed to dry in the air, the more chance there is of water-spotting. After cut glass has been wiped, it should be placed on a soft dry towel to absorb any moisture that the towel has not wiped away.

Trip to White Haven

Tannersville, Miss Peggy Bryson drove to White Haven on Tuesday night last to visit her uncle, Samuel Clugston. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wetzel and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Matthews, who are spending their vacation with the Earl Hailers.

For a bread spread the children will love and that's good for them, too, whip honey into an equal amount of butter or margarine and store in the refrigerator until snack time.

She was a quiet little girl of twelve or so, as neat as a button, and with deep brown eyes that fairly gazed in everything they saw. As I approached her, she was concentrating upon a pair of salt and pepper shakers carved from cedar and bearing the slogan, "Souvenir of the Pocono Mountains, Pa."

"I think I'd like these too," she said hesitantly to the woman, standing patiently at her side.

"Then get them, honey. Nobody said not to," a kindly voice urged.

"But the tag says one dollar..." The child's voice dropped as her sentence trailed sadly away.

"So what about that?" the woman urged. "No one said you had to pay the dollar, honey. My goodness, what do you think we're standing here with you for?"

The child smiled happily over her shoulder in the direction of the woman, whose husband was standing a short distance away wearing a big grin that somehow softened his entire face.

"She wants these too," the woman explained, handing me several feathered Indian hats and a pennant. "And now, what else will it be? What about some folders with pictures of the mountains and all? They'd be nice wouldn't they?"

The little girl shrugged doubtfully, and I opened a folder, allowing the pictures to cascade down like a colorful Niagara. Her face brightened, as her benefactor pointed out various scenes with which the child was familiar, "See the river . . . and the Indian Head? What about that? Would these do?"

The curly head nodded. "I would need four," she said, "but they'd be . . ."

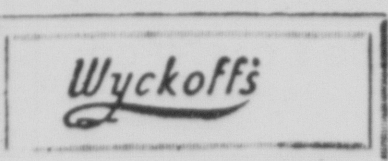

"Forty cents," the woman computed. "But that's all right, honey . . . you just keep your money right in your little purse. Now are we finished here?"

They were, so I wrapped the merchandise and counted out the change. "Have you been visiting the Poconos long?" I inquired.

"Oh, we aren't visiting," the gentleman replied. "We live in Northampton County, and this is our little Fresh Air girl. She goes home Wednesday, and we sure will miss her."

The man and woman beamed proudly. Their guest smiled too, with the satisfaction of a child who wants for nothing. I wondered if this type of smile might be something new with her. As I watched, they turned toward the door, only to stop a few seconds later to make a purchase in the toy department.

Fresh Air children. We've seen lots of them at Wyckoff's recently, in the company of generous adults whose purchases have included ice cream, revolvers, sand pails, coloring books, doll dishes, baseball bats, and bathing suits. And, as we've watched the smiling recipients and the equally smiling donors, we've wondered just who it is that profits the most from a Fresh Air visit. If the Herald Tribune were to ask me, I'd say the profit is mutual. Fresh Air for the children pays off with a fresh viewpoint for those who open their hearts along with their purse.

Reeders Scores Three In Seventh To Down Kunkletown

Martin's Relief Work Saves Visiting Nine

Third time jinx still holds at Stroudsburg Speedway, as "Blackie" Ryder, veteran stock car pilot from Reading, captured his first feature event at the half-mile dirt track located next to the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Airport on Saturday night. A standing-room only crowd watched Ryder cross the finish line ahead of seven other cars, the remains of a field of 22 starters. A total of 53 cars signed to race at Stroudsburg Speedway, but something like 20 of them were forced out of action by accidents.

Ken Wisner and Jack Burgstesser, both of Easton and the only double winners at the local track this season, never officially got beyond the starting line in their bids for a third victory. Both were disqualified by officials of the Liberty Stock Car Association for passing before the actual start of the race. The announcement of the disqualifications was unpopular in some corners but the verdict stood and Ryder went on to win.

The comeback of Harry Charles, the Easton driver who won the first feature event of the season at Stroudsburg Speedway, will long be a topic of conversation for the capacity crowd attending the latest bit of racing at Monroe County's only track. Charles flipped over on his lid on the first lap, but after some quick mechanical work he was back in the field and finished a close second in the 25-lap feature that carries both a trophy and money for its top prize.

Dale Johnson, the East Stroudsburg driver who just can't get a wink from Lady Luck, thrilled the crowd by crashing through the wall of the third turn and flying through space off an embankment before coming to a jarring stop in the pits. Johnson, who marked a white "X" in the 37 on his car, in an effort to change his luck, was uninjured in the crash but certainly missed a fine opportunity of finishing in the money in the big feature.

Clyde Suydam, Phillipsburg, N.J., completely demolished his car on the first turn in one of the qualifying heats and was unable to run anywhere for the night. Bill Brown, Norristown, suffered an injured shoulder when his car went through the fence on the first turn and came down on one of the posts holding the fence. The post hit Brown's shoulder. This accident involved four cars. Eight machines were battered so badly that they probably won't be able to run until Stroudsburg Speedway presents its regular Wednesday night show. Johnson is one guy anxious to have his car ready for the next show. The former Pocono High student is determined to grab a victory at the local track in the near future.

Approximately 100 feet of fence was torn down at the half-mile oval on Saturday by cars that refused to remain on the track. Ken Wisner, who was mightily upset over his disqualification, when not racing talks almost entirely of his family and pet police dog, "Smokie." Dengler, the one-legged speed demon from Reading, brought a new car to Stroudsburg Speedway on Saturday, but stuck with the same old 253 number. Although Dengler picked up a few bucks for his night's labor, the car wasn't up to Dengler standards.

Jackie Burgstesser another guy that is having a terrible amount of hard luck after winning two straight features, lost a wheel on the fourth turn of the first qualifying heat, but managed to keep the car under control and glide to a safe stop in the infield almost one-quarter of a lap away from the mishap. The wheel sheered right off and went about 20 feet in the air. The trophy Ryder won was his 26th in as many years of racing. Bob Gourley, new starter at Stroudsburg Speedway, gives the local track one of the most colorful flagmen in the business.

Gourley formally went through the same paces at Bone Stadium, Brown, the guy forced to take a trip to the hospital after an accident in the third heat, is known as Bill Williams in the big car grids. Charley Pratorious, Saylorsburg, and Charley Hansler, Kunkletown, made their first starts of the season at Stroudsburg Speedway on Saturday.

The new seats promised for Stroudsburg Speedway will be begun this week. Saturday's full house brought to the front the demand for new seats. Fred Meers, Philadelphia, traveled the longest distance to enter Saturday's stock car program. Stroudsburg Speedway plans a "Demolition Race" in addition to the regular five events, on Wednesday. The ability of mechanics to get stock cars in running order in a matter of minutes is almost unbelievable. They certainly do a fine job and many times their work means the difference between victory and defeat. A winning car should often times be credited to the men who work on it as much as the driver who guides it through the traffic.

Kunkletown — Reeders came from behind with three runs in the seventh inning yesterday to win a Pocono Mountains League baseball game, 5-4, here on the losing club's home grounds.

The victory moved Reeders right back into the thick of the pennant fight, while the defending title holder's reversal put a crimp in Kunkletown's bid for a third straight pennant.

John Bonser gave up all Kunkletown runs, allowing one marker in the second, three in the third and one in the sixth.

George Martin, veteran right hander, came on the scene at this point and blanked the hard hitting Kunkletown contingent the remainder of the distance.

Rolls
Meanwhile Reeders began to roll in the third with a single run, picked up additional singletons in the fifth and sixth and the three major counters in the top of the third.

Martin allowed three hits during his last three and one-third innings of action, but was untouchable when runners were on base.

Kunkletown took advantage of five Reeders errors to remain in the thick of the fight, while banging out 11 hits to 14 safeties for Reeders.

Reeders is now only one-half game off the pace being set by Lake Harmony.

Yankees Trip Senators, 6-5

New York, CP — Yogi Berra clouted two home runs, but the New York Yankees had to score the winning run in the ninth inning on two walks and a single by Gene Woodling to edge the Washington Senators, 6-5, yesterday.

After the Senators tied it with two runs in the ninth, Mickey Mantle opened the home half by walking. Hank Bauer and Berra both went down, but John Dixon, the fourth Washington pitcher, issued another pass to Irv Noren, forcing Mantle to second. Woodling then slashed a single to center, scoring Mantle with the winning run.

Trouble
Jim McDonald was in trouble only once in the first seven innings, yielding three runs to Bucky Harris' crew in the third. He gave way to a pinch-hitter in the seventh and Bob Kuzava came on. Kuzava stopped the Nats in the eighth, but when Jackie Jensen opened the ninth with a home run, Manager Casey Stengel called in ace Allie Reynolds to protect the one-run lead.

Reynolds got Jim Busby, but Keith Thomas, batting for Wayne Terwilliger, tripled. Jerry Snyder ran for him and scored on a long fly by Gil Coan, another pinch-hitter. That set the stage for the Yanks to win the hard way.

Ryder Wins Wreck-Spattered Feature Event At Stroudsburg Speedway On Saturday Night

"Blackie" Ryder, Reading, streaked to victory in the 25-lap feature stock car event at the Stroudsburg Speedway Saturday night during a program that produced 20 wrecked cars, eight of which will probably be on the sidelines until the same track holds its first of two regular weekly programs on Wednesday.

A field of 22 started the feature event but only eight cars crossed the finish line. Wrecks were plentiful on all turns, but only Bill Brown, Norristown, was sent to the Monroe County General Hospital and he wasn't injured seriously.

Harry Charles, despite the fact that he flipped over on his top in the first lap of the feature, came back to finish second behind Ryder. Charles, an Easton driver, has one feature win to his credit on the local track this season.

Russ Delp, also of Reading, finished third, while Otto Harvi, Easton, and Fred Meers, Philadelphia, rounded out the first five places in the main battle.

Ryder earned his position in the main event by winning the third qualifying heat before a capacity crowd of wildly cheering speed fans. Norman Peiss, Easton, chased Ryder to the finish line and wound up a close second, while Dale Johnson, East Stroudsburg, came home third.

The first qualifying grind was captured by Dave Rapp, Easton, with "Buddy" Burgstesser, of the same town, coming in second and Joe Mushlitz, Bethlehem, third.

Ken Wisner, the Easton flash, was first in the second qualifying heat, with Charles second and Russ Delp, Reading, third.

Jack Burgstesser, who lost a wheel in the first qualifying heat, returned to the track in time to win the consolation event, while Lew Hahn, Phillipsburg, N.J., came home second and Harold Held, Bethlehem, finished third.

Stroudsburg Speedway will present its regular five-event stock car program on Wednesday, plus a "Demolition Race," beginning at 8:30 p.m.

The nightcap featured the National Bank in a three-run outburst in the first game, an advantage that the Lumbermen could never overcome.

Today's schedule in the circuit calls for another doubleheader, with Cramer's club appearing in both games once again. HOH will supply the opposition once again at 4 p.m., while the Methodists are the party of the second part at 6:30 p.m.

Dodgers Snap Giants' Victory Streak With Run In Tenth, 4-3

Brooklyn, CP — The usually imperturbable Hoyt Wilhelm walked pinch-hitter Bobby Morgan with the bases loaded in the 10th inning yesterday as the Brooklyn Dodgers snapped an eight-game New York winning streak and a four-game losing skein of their own with a 4-3 victory over the Giants.

Analomink Falls Before Pocono Lake

Henryville — Pocono Lake outlasted Analomink in one of the wildest scoring baseball games in the history of the Pocono Mountains League here yesterday in an 11-inning marathon, 21-20.

A total of 27 runs were scored by both teams in the first three innings before the tempo dropped to 13 in the last eight stanzas.

Analomink trailed 17-11 at the end of three frames but scored four times in the fifth, three in the sixth and two in the seventh to move in front, 20-17.

Shawnee-on-Delaware — Golf pros from the Philadelphia district, Florida and California will compete in three championship events starting tomorrow at the Shawnee Inn and Country Club.

At least 10 pros from the Philadelphia district, two from California and one from Florida will participate in the annual Shawnee-Delaware golf week program.

Chisox Sweep Doubleheader From Indians

Chicago, CP — The rampaging Chicago White Sox dealt a crushing blow in the battle of the American League runners-up yesterday with a double trimming of the Cleveland Indians, 14-2 and 3-1 before Comiskey Park's top 1953 crowd, 43,419.

It was the 25th Sox victory in 31 games. In the tight final, Virgil "Fire" Trucks won his fifth straight in Sox uniform and his first over Cleveland since the finale of the 1951 season.

However, Trucks needed ninth-inning help from Sox ace Billy Pierce.

Five Out

The twin triumph marking the third-spot Indians put Chicago five games behind the pace-setting New York Yankees. The Yanks won a single contest with Washington, 6-5, and lost a half game to the surging Sox.

Mike Fornieles won the run-away opener with a six-hit performance for his seventh victory against two defeats.

In their five games in three days here, the Sox and Tribe played before 110,565 fans.

It was a costly visitation by the Indians, now three and one-half games behind the Sox and only two and one-half ahead of fourth-place Boston.

Portland Tallies Twice In Ninth To Decision Roseto, 5-4

Portland — Two runs in the bottom of the ninth enabled Portland to upset league leading Roseto, 5-4, in a Blue Mountain League baseball battle fought here on the winning contingent's home field yesterday.

The victory enabled the Apollos to fight their way back into the thick of the pennant fight.

Roseto led 1-0 and 3-2 at two different points in the ball game, but Portland came up with a singleton in the fifth to tie the game, 3-3.

Brief Lead

The number one club in the standings went into a 4-3 lead in the eighth game and Portland turned on the heat to win in the ninth, scoring two times with two batters retired.

A total of 14 errors were committed during the course of the game, six by the winning Portland club and eight by Roseto.

Neil Smith limited Roseto to eight hits, while the winning club could muster only four off John Vyhital, who lost his second game in less than a week.

Specimens sent to us indicate earwigs, a very troublesome household and garden pest. You find them in damp places, under boards and trash. As we mentioned a short while ago, earwigs are night-rovers, during the day hiding in dark moist places. Earwigs have a mean looking pair of pincers at the end of their bodies. Unchecked, this pest will do considerable damage to vegetables, fruits and flowering plants. Control: Apply chlordane as a dust or as a wettable powder in areas to be protected. Likely hiding places: Along fences, house foundations, around refuse piles, trash or compost heaps. Strawberries: There are three distinct leaf spot diseases of strawberries: Common leaf spot, scorch and leaf blight. Ordinary leaf spot is in everyone's strawberry patch, and it seems to cause little or no damage. Just looks unsightly. You can tell leaf spot from other diseases of strawberries. Look for circular spots with ash-gray centers. You shouldn't worry too much about the disease, although it can be checked, as well as others, by spraying plants in early spring, soon after growth starts. FREE: Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for a free copy of our new guide to Detecting and Controlling Diseases on Strawberries. With our new guide, you can easily trace down any disease on your berry plants, and fight them. Be sure to send a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Sorry, but we cannot accept postal cards. Home grown olives: It will come as a surprise to many readers that olive trees can be started from pits. Select pits from ripe (black olives), and plant them in soil about two inches deep. Pits will germinate in two or three weeks, after which the seedlings can be transplanted in small clay pot. Olives must be outdoors in summer, brought in, in fall before frost. Trees will suffer injury at 15 degrees. Try raising olives right in your own backyard! A more handsome tree never grew. Green thumb work to do: Check that furry white growth on your ramble rose. It's mildew, and sulfur checks it. If a bug chews holes in the blooms of your roses, it's probably the rose chorer. DDT or Methoxychlor will knock it out. Put a four or five inch mulch of straw, peatmoss, buckwheat hulls, or just plain sawdust around your tomato plants, shrubs and perennials. This mulch checks weeds, saves valuable moisture for plants during the hot days ahead. Look for tiny webs in your evergreens. If present, spray with aramite, two applications in a two-week period. A spray in time may save nine evergreens attacked by mites or red spiders. It Will Pay You To Be Represented In This Popular Feature For Information Phone 320 Dorothy Kelly The Daily Record	Beautiful Your Floors Rent Our Sander-Edger Sander.....$4 Edger.....2 (For 24 Hours) MONTGOMERY WARD 744 Main St., Stroudsburg Cocker Spaniel Puppies AKC Registered 2 Males, 1 Female $35.00 Phone 2063-R-2 HAY MOWING Grass Lots PHONE 3803-R Fred Neipert Franklin Hill —Here's How— To Get BUSINESS If You Offer a Service Get on the BAND WAGON PLACE YOUR AD In This BUSINESS SERVICE DIRECTORY BIGGEST VALUE PER $ $ $ $ YOU CAN FIND Call Dorothy Kelly For Information on LOW CONTRACT RATES Phone 320 The Daily Record It Will Pay You To Be Represented In This Popular Feature For Information Phone 320 Dorothy Kelly The Daily Record

Christine Named State Leader Of Veterans Of Foreign Wars

Unopposed For High Position

Elmer D. Christine was unanimous election to the post of State Commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars Saturday.

Christine's name was the only one submitted in nomination for the post during the 34th VFW Department encampment in Philadelphia.

The election elevates Mr. Christine to the top post in the State organization after a meteoric rise from local posts in the Stroudsburg-Monroe County VFW.

He was senior vice commander of the State organization last year. At installation ceremonies Saturday afternoon, Christine succeeded Hugh H. Hoke of Schuylkill Haven as head of the veterans group.

Christine's name was submitted by Frank Weiler, long-time leader in Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540 VFW in Stroudsburg. The nomination was seconded by Eddie Conroy, commander of Post 13, Allentown, Eighth District.

Joseph F. Korsch of Uniontown succeeds Christine as senior vice commander.

Christine is now serving as Monroe County district attorney. Born and reared in Stroudsburg he is a graduate of the borough high school.

After attending Dickinson Law School, he was admitted to the Monroe County Bar Association in May, 1929. He has been engaged in legal practice here since that time, excluding a period of service with the armed forces.

One of Christine's first moves was to propose the establishment of a State VFW newspaper.

The new State commander had already checked into the possibilities involved, and the prospect of setting up a profitable newspaper with intrastate circulation of around 170,000 seemed good, Christine said.

At a council of administration session after the encampment, directors unanimously moved to authorize Christine to investigate with a committee of his choosing, and to report details and a prospectus to the next council meeting in October.

Christine sees the proposed newspaper as one of the biggest potential membership boosters yet devised by the VFW. Also it would "further the interests of veterans, their widows and orphans, help to promote VFW activities, worthwhile community projects — even those having no connection with VFW — and would bring additional revenue into the treasury."

The money from the newspaper would serve to aid local posts to buy property for their homes, and furnish aid to posts having financial difficulties with mortgages.

At present, he said, the information which goes out from State headquarters is sent to the post commander and quartermaster, and is tacked on the post bulletin board. A newspaper, going into every VFW member's home, would disseminate vital information faster and more surely.

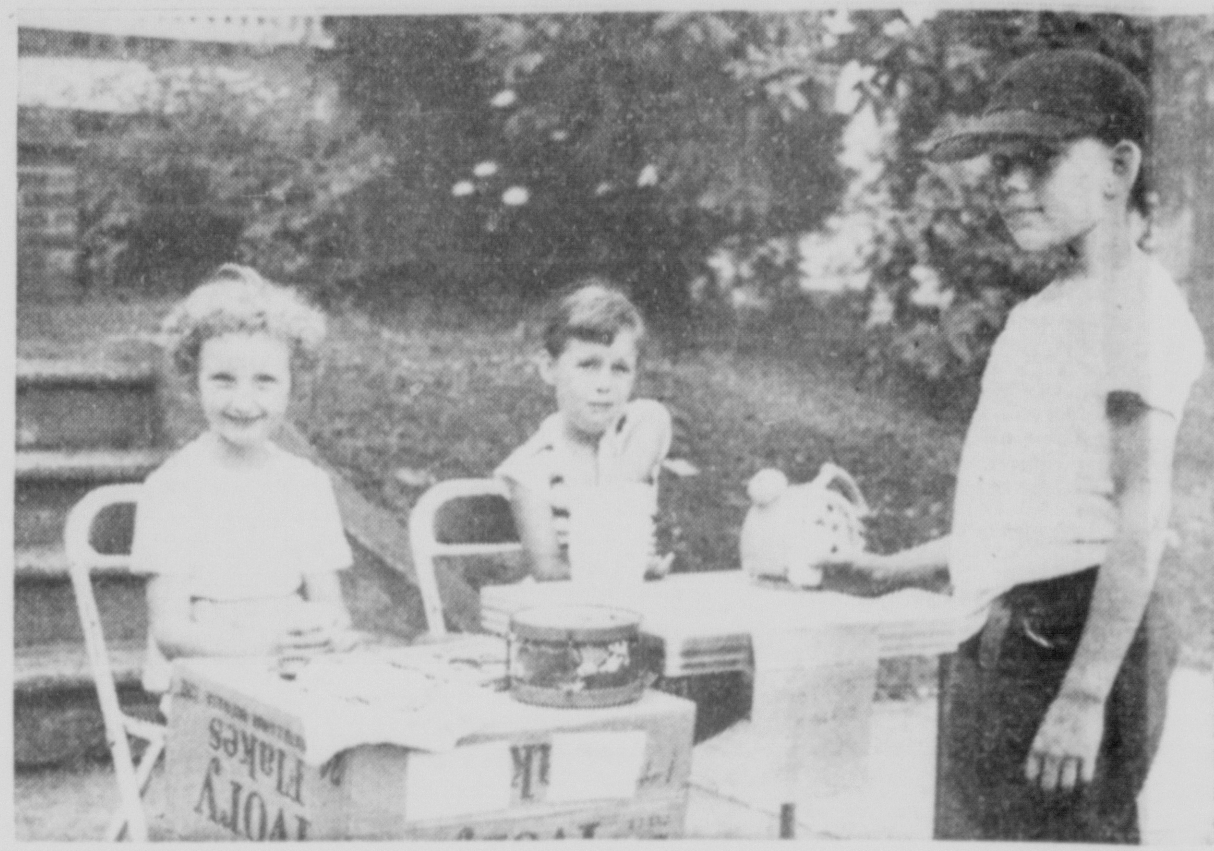

Christine said he didn't know how often the paper might be published, but supposed it would be once a month or oftener.

If the proposition is accepted by the council in October, Christine said he hopes to get the newspaper in print by January 1954.

Christine and some of his party and family returned with him in the new, 1953 model car given him as State commander. He expects to roll up about 40,000 miles of travel in it this year, on VFW business.

Christine and his group arrived back in Stroudsburg about 6 p.m. yesterday.

The State commander's next step is an official visit to Harrisburg next week.

State Game Commission Decides Stop Trying To Reduce Deer Herds; Issues Less Licenses

Harrisburg, Pa. — The State Game Commission has stopped trying to reduce Pennsylvania's deer herd.

It disclosed yesterday a change in policy which six years ago resulted in the establishment of open hunting seasons on antlerless deer.

"The commission is no longer attempting to reduce the herd but to maintain it in reasonable numbers in relation to the food supply," the commission said in its weekly newsletter.

Hunting season dates for 1953 fixed by the commission last week reflect the new policy. The commission decided to issue less than 45 per cent of the number of special doe permits sold last year. It also sliced in two-thirds the length of the special season, limiting it to two full days.

Doe seasons were declared to help thin out the deer herd after the commission found evidence of crop damage and a lack of natural food for deer.

"Antlerless deer seasons are established only after careful research and a study of field conditions as well as the population of the herd in each county. Even though there have been doe seasons for five years, many crop damage complaints are still received and the highway kill remains high."

Last year the commission announced it hoped for a 50,000 kill during the three day hunt. However, only 37,829 doe were reported taken, 125 less than in 1951.

"It is anticipated the harvest this year will be considerably lower," the commission said. "The number of doe hunters will be carefully limited in each county to insure that no over-harvesting of antlerless deer will occur."

The commission explained that it believes the herd has reached a level "reasonably compatible with its food supply in many parts of the state," and it is continuing the reduced doe hunt "to prevent excessive damage to forests, farm crops and the herd itself while producing maximum sport."

At the same time the commission listed the county-by-county allocation for the special doe permits which cost $1.15 and are good only in the county where bought.

Potter and McKean Counties, heart of the Northcentral Pennsylvania deer country, are given 6,000 and 5,400 permits. Forty-five hundred will be sold in Clearfield and Elk counties. As in previous years, hunting will be permitted in every county except Philadelphia.

Hunting hours this year begin at 7 a.m. on both days, Dec. 14 and 15. Hunters who have bagged a deer in either the archer's or buck season, cannot take a doe. Legal game for the antlerless season is defined as all deer without visible antlers.

Doe permits, which won't go on sale for sometime, were allocated on a complicated formula based on past success of deer hunters in each county. The total to be issued this year is 103,765 while last year's figure was 224,660.

Eastern Europe Reds Face Darkest Hour; Rulership Being Decided By Murder

By Daniel de Laize

Berlin, G.P. — This is the darkest hour for Eastern Europe's Communists. Rulership of the party is being decided by murder.

Georgi Malenkov's blood feud with Lavrenty Beria has shaken not only the Soviet Union but seven satellites reaching from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

It is bound to have more international repercussions than all the purge trials of the 1930's. For Russia then was a hermit state, with no armies and proconsuls wielding supreme power beyond her own frontiers.

In killing off old Bolsheviks and leading generals before the last war, Stalin was just tidying up at home. He had already been a dictator for more than a decade.

The blood-smeared housecleaning in the Kremlin today casts a direct shadow of death or imprisonment on every "Beria man" in the capitals of Poland or Romania, Hungary or Bulgaria, East Germany or Czechoslovakia, not to mention Albania.

Many foreign Communists boasted of close ties with Beria while he was Soviet police boss. Few are known as "Malenkov Men" and the pot-bellied Premier is an ominous question mark to most party faithful.

Western observers along the iron curtain no longer place credence in the Moscow communiqué of last March that Stalin died of natural causes. The signs point to a deadly struggle having been under way between Malenkov and Beria well before that time for the dictator's inheritance, and Stalin was siding with his old Georgian crony. If Stalin had not been put out of the way, Malenkov himself might have perished, as another party climber, Andrei Zhdanov, perished earlier.

Oddly enough, an anti-Communist Russia exile group in West Germany forecast last January that Stalin's Beria's and Malenkov's lives were all at stake. The forecast was communicated to allied diplomats, who classed it as arm-chair speculation but were increasingly impressed by it as the Kremlin crisis got hotter.

Major changes in the Soviet system under Malenkov appear inescapable. Lenin's Russia was profoundly altered by Stalin. The individual character of a dictator is inordinately reflected in almost every activity of the country he rules.

The chances are that it will become a better system than under Stalin for it could hardly become worse. There is a limit to which human rights can be suppressed, and Stalin reached it.

After more Communist heads have rolled in the sand—for the extermination of one Beria will not be enough to put Malenkov fully at ease—he will have to try figuring out the answers to problems
